

Who We Are

Advanced Health Education Center has been training physicians and supplying personnel to the health care industry for over 23 years.

Terry J. Zwakenberg BS, RVT, RDCS, Director of Cardiovascular Services has over 30 years experience in health care with the last 23 being in cardiovascular ultrasound. He has served as a department head in the hospital environment, as a program director for a formal cardiovascular technology program, and as owner of a busy mobile ultrasound service. His early healthcare experience was in nursing in the US Navy and after his military service he graduated with honors from respiratory care school. He has been teaching with the AHEC physician program for five years. He is active in our domestic consulting program and has traveled to the UAE, Egypt, Cayman Islands and Saudi Arabia in the past year. He understands the active practice of cardiovascular ultrasound and will customize your CME for your office.

On-Site Training for Physicians & Technical Staff

Do you need specialized training to meet the CME needs of your practice physicians and technical staff?

If you read or perform echocardiograms, nuclear medicine, or noninvasive vascular studies for an accredited lab the answer is YES.

Medicare requires ongoing CME to qualify as an interpreter, ICAVL, ICAEL, ICANL, ACR, AIUM, also require CME for both physician and technical staff for compliance with accreditation standards.

In today's market CME can be time consuming and costly to acquire. The cost can easily be thousands of dollars when the office must be closed and revenue from patient visits and procedures are lost. Adding costs of travel, lodging, and food in addition to the CME event itself increases your investment.

On-site training brings the CME to you, saving all those hidden costs. Your staff can acquire all the CME requirements in one activity, making it easier to track and schedule your CME needs. You can even offset a portion of the costs and generate revenue by utilizing your patients as training models if there is a "hands on" component to your particular practice. Our flexibility in scheduling courses during evening and weekend hours allows the least disruption for your practice. You are not playing catch up for a week when you return. We bring the best faculty you need, right to your door!

What our Customers are Saying...

“Course was excellent; all of my goals were met. Instructor was excellent. TJ has a wealth of experience and excellent approach to teaching. He is well prepared and has outstanding teaching material available.”

John Ellis M.D.

“I first want to thank you for all your help setting up this program. The Doctors and techs just loved TJ. They said his lecture was right on target for what they needed and was a great learning experience. All too often you go to lectures and seminars and it's not quite what you expect or they are lecturing too far above or below your level. TJ was able to review the most basic of knowledge, without coming across condescending and then he taught them advanced techniques and tricks that they were just thrilled with. My physicians called me Friday, Saturday and Sunday to thank me and came by my office first thing this morning to let me know how great it went. So, I thought I should pass it along to the rightful recipients.

Once again thank you for all your help in setting this program up and please extend our thanks to TJ this was such a great experience.”
